About SHPE

The year was 1973. Rodrigo “Rod” Garcia was working as a civil engineer for the City of Los Angeles. When Rod was at work—even in the midst of a tech boom in California—he was a brown face in a sea of white, but when he drove home in the evenings or walked the streets, his city was far more colorful. LA was home to the largest Hispanic population in the country.

Rod was a man of action. He gathered a cohort of fellow Hispanic engineers who shared his concerns, and they held a meeting in his garage to determine how they could contribute to diversifying the engineering field. The group quickly charged this side project with passion. They set to work doing what engineers do best: designing and building. They leveraged their community and political contacts, making calls and scheduling meetings asking for support. In 1974, they officially formed the Society of Hispanic Professional Engineers (SHPE).

What was, back then, a small group of leaders has now grown into a nationwide professional association. SHPE is the largest association in the nation for Hispanics in STEM, serving more than 18,000* members, running 330+ college and university chapters, and celebrating 50 years at work. SHPE’s growth isn’t slowing down anytime soon. As we continue to expand our membership, programs, and partnerships, we’re guided by a clear mission, a bright vision, and the core values demonstrated by our founders.

*as of November 2023

OUR MISSION

SHPE changes lives by empowering the Hispanic community to realize its fullest potential and to impact the world through STEM awareness, access, support, and development.

Greetings from Our Team

It's 1974. There's a global recession and inflation is out of control. Gerald Ford has just become president after Nixon's Watergate resignation. And everybody's doing a brand-new dance now called the Locomotion.

Amidst worldwide financial crises, national upheaval, and chart-topping disco anthems, a small group of Hispanic engineers start meeting in a garage somewhere in Los Angeles. Led by LA civil engineer Rod Garcia, they task themselves with finding a solution to an increasingly apparent problem - the underrepresentation of Latinos in STEM. It is here that the Society of Hispanic Professional Engineers (SHPE) is born.

Little do these trailblazers know that this organization will go on to change the lives of tens of thousands of aspiring engineers, scientists, and mathematicians. Over the course of the next five decades, it will launch the careers of astronauts, CEOs, and US Senators. It will transform the landscape of the STEM workforce forever.

As of late 2023, SHPE is nearly 18,000 members strong with over 330 chapters across the United States. Each year, we hold the largest gathering of Hispanics in STEM at our annual National Convention. Thousands of students walk away with job offers and the unshakable truth that they do indeed belong.

This year marks SHPE's 50th Anniversary, and we are celebrating in a BIG way. We're hosting a year-long party with a 10-city fiesta tour, 50 member stories, a star-studded gala, and so much more! And it all culminates October 30 - November 3 at our 2024 National Convention in Anaheim.

The pages that follow outline the ways in which you can get involved in the convention aspect of the 50th. You'll see countless benefits that come with your engagement and sponsorship. It is an incredible opportunity to put on proud display your support for Hispanics in STEM, share information about your company, and recruit diverse talent from among our best and brightest.

Perhaps, like our founders, we cannot imagine everything the next 50 years will bring us or the impact SHPE will continue to make on the world. But we can know one thing - the SHPE Familia will be here every day, week, month, and year to support and empower our members - and we hope you will too.

Please feel free to share this prospectus with anyone in your network who may be interested in supporting SHPE. See you in Anaheim!

With Celebration,
The SHPE Team

Why SHPE?

The SHPE National Convention serves as the country's largest gathering of Hispanic STEM students and professionals, offering a unique opportunity to engage, support, educate and advance the careers of Hispanic students and professionals. Your participation further affirms your commitment to diversity in both your recruitment and retention efforts.

The current state of diversity in STEM is at the forefront of national conversations, and with good reason. Keeping up with the velocity of technology is going to require a far more diverse talent pool than the overwhelmingly non-diverse pool working in the field today. Without a wider range of perspectives, we will lose sight of critical innovation.

Inclusive hiring yields a better understanding of customers and competitive advantage. It isn't just the right thing to do—it's good for business, too.

On my first day of the convention, when I saw the “mob” of students so eager to enter the show floor, I was amazed and impressed. When I heard them cheer when the clock struck 2pm and there was this organized, professional rush to get into the room, frankly, it almost took my breath away. The enthusiasm, interest, and desire – I could feel it.

— CHARLES H. ALLISON, JR., HARVARD BUSINESS SCHOOL ADMISSIONS

At SHPE, we know how much this matters because we live it. We recognize that our students and professionals aren't just the future of the Hispanic community, but the future of this entire country. We offer our members community, mentorship, and fellowship to ensure that the brightest minds in STEM don't go overlooked.

About the National Convention

The SHPE National Convention is structured as a general conference with specialty tracks, competitions, networking events, and a career fair. The general conference offers basic and advanced tiered workshops targeted to all audiences and devoted to career development, life skills, and knowledge building. These workshops aim to provide participants with the necessary resources and network to address the disparity of Hispanics earning STEM degrees or those entering the STEM workforce.

To supplement the general workshops, we have specialty tracks for Community College, Graduate School, SHPETinas, Professionals, and SHPETech – which includes our popular series of competitions. Each of our specialty tracks are tailored to address the needs and interests of its respective audience. Attendees are encouraged to mix & match specialty track workshops with the general workshops for a well-rounded convention experience.

It's Easy as... 1-2-3!

Hispanic engineers, SHPE staff, and volunteers lead fun HANDES-ON activities for the students.

As a sponsor, your employees will serve on panels or share their personal stories as motivational speakers. Educational workshops will highlight career paths, new technology, and focus on each individual's personal passions to showcase various workforce opportunities. Historically, these too have been hands-on as previous sponsors choose to bring cutting edge technology to focus on their future-centered workforce needs.

The STEM activities are intentional about giving students a glimpse into the world of engineering. In-the-moment mentoring happens both organically and by-design.

Benefits of engagement include corporate social responsibility, exposure of corporate benevolence, and socio-situational impact of communities in need.

We will be unable to make exceptions. We encourage you to communicate this information to all individuals from your organization.
